I am a proud graduate of Abraham Lincoln High School (Class of 1960). The opportunity to serve as Principal of Lincoln High School is an honor and a trust. Lincoln has played a major part in the lives of my family members over three generations and of generations of families and individuals since 1923. The first students to enter Lincoln were welcomed to a brand new school in September 0f 1923. That was eighty five years ago. Think for a moment of all the students who have passed through Lincoln over the years. Think of history and how events shaped each generation of graduates from the 1920s, the 1940s, the 1960s, the 1980s, and up through the Class of 2009. Local, state, national, and international events have impacted all Lincoln students over the years.

Lincoln yearbooks are a record of history and tell the story of how Lincoln students have handled adversity brought on by outside events and still managed to accomplish the many positive achievements that make Lincoln the great school it is today. This Class of 2009 has significantly added to the legacy of Lincoln through your achievements in academics, music, drama, and sports. Senior leadership provided the spark that generated student life at Lincoln throughout the year. The pages of this yearbook attest to your school spirit and pride and what best defines a Lincoln High School educational experience. We are very proud of all Lincoln students and especially you graduates for the way you have conducted yourselves under pressure and in the public view on numerous occasions. That school spirit and pride was evident this year as Lincolns four year renovation project was completed and you were welcomed back to school with the opening of our new west entrance, new band room, and new student Commons area.

Our challenge at Lincoln is to prepare you to compete in all sectors of the world economy and to manage the many events that impact your lives. The challenge of globalization and the impact of technology, computers, and the Internet place you in direct competition with young people of your generation throughout the world. Our efforts have been directed at meeting your unique learning needs and guiding you as active participants in shaping your own futures. It is our hope that in ways small and large, your Lincoln High educational experience will play a major role in your lives. You are now joining the graduates before you, who as Alumni have distinguished themselves in their chosen fields, raised families, and look back on their formative years at Lincoln with positive memories.

Thank you for attending Abraham Lincoln High School and for the opportunity to serve as your Principal. We congratulate the Class of 2009 and wish you the best in the years to come.

Graduation is a time
For feeling very proud,
For feeling lots of lovely thoughts and saying them out loud
It's a time for feeling love
About to overflow,
And just before it leaps its banks
To let the loved one know.
And so we are very proud of you
For being who you are,
For making something of yourself
For making it this far.
We are proud because we are part of everything you do. This time's the time to say how much we love you!

Most siblings resent having younger ones welcomed to the world, but not me. Ever since the mention of the two of your existence, I have been bursting with joy. Not only would I have one to love and spend time with I would have two! I think everyone has felt since the day you were born, God touched our hearts so deep inside, our special blessing multiplied. That day felt like yesterday, now you are adults. I used to share clothes with you, now I am stealing yours! One of the best things about being an adult is that you can share with your sister and still have plenty for yourself. Sorry about all the lectures and hope you continue to learn from all your mistakes! You have booth inspired me more than you will ever know. Wherever life brings you, know you can always come back to me, because I am your big sister. An older sister helps one remain half child, half woman. I am so proud of you girl! This is just one chapter in your life but there will be many more to come. Just remember wherever you go, go with your hearts. Love Always, Katie

My high school sweetheart. Seeing you grow and mature over the 6 years we've been dating has been fun. We both know each other better than anyone else know us. Kenz,

I still remember when I was beating you up and you always yelled for mom to help, but she would just laugh. Actually that still happens now. I cannot believe you are graduating already...yes you did have a better GPA than me, but I am the oldest and that makes me smartest. Now that you are leaving me to go to college, I am realizing why I was so protective in the past and how much I am going to miss picking on little sis next year. Just remember if you need to call me for any reason, you know I am here for you. Just remember to be safe and smart.

Love you, Your BIG BRO

P.S.Thank you for giving me and Michaela another weekennd vacation spot!

Mackenzie Biggart

Sis,

From the moment you were born, placed into a PICU incubator, and nicknamed by your heart doctor as "Big Mac" , we realized how strong you were going to be and that would always fight for what you believe in! You have always been true to yourself and to those you love; sometimes all parents want for their children. You're a confident and beautiful young lady, and we are very proud of you and your accomplishments. Your wonderful sense of humor and inner and outter beauty are ony a few of your special traits and we look forward to seeing where they take you in your life. We have loved watching you grow as an outstanding and talented dancer and we're proud of the confidence it has given you. Our emotions are torn between sadness of seeing you leave home, and our admiration of seeing you accomplish your goal of becoming a NICU Nurse. Stay true to your beliefs and know you will always be our "Little girl" !

We love you very much!

From the moment I cast my eyes on you. You were a being to behold Through the firsts, I was captivated as you explored and grew.
There is so much to say, a lot of reminiscing that could be told
War, poverty and discrimination. You shine the magnitude of which you care.
Believe in you- you're the bravest most compassionate and intelligent person I know!
Live on the premise when nobody is looking you'll do what is right and keep being fair.
While, Son, if I had a single message to bestow-
Where ever life shall take you-Carry how much you are loved and seek happiness there!
Love, Mom

Zachary Toillion

When I think about you, three words ring true - determined, charismatic, & intelligent. The bullheaded toddler who clung to his Little Tykes car is now a young man determined to pursue his political dreams. The grade school boy's comsistent chattiness evolved into an ease at being a charismatic public speaker & performer. The preteen that outscored his Aunt on an IQ test is now an adult with an insatiable thirst for knowlege. If you continue applying your traits that I hold dear, success is in your future.

Angel's Lullaby
By-Reba McEntire
Midnight moonlight shining through the curtain lace
Paints a perfect picture on your perfect face
One sweet angel sleeping in my arms
You are the promise I knew God would keep
You are the gift that makes my world complete
And you'll never know how much I love you
But I'll keep telling you my whole life through.
Now I believe in miracles, and you're the reason why
So dream on while I sing my angel's lullaby

It's A Commons Thing

Construction on the commons began in the spring semester of 2008 and was completed in the summer before the following school year started. It changed the way the entire school felt and everyone was filled with pride when they finally saw this new addition to the building.

The commons holds the newly remolded band room, auto room and new cafeteria. The new cafe is a great meeting place for a variety of organizations and clubs as well as the BLH Pancake Breakfast and blood drive. The band room is not only used by the band and orchestra, but it's large enough for faculty meetings and the Railette's to practice their routines.

The commons added new restrooms and an elevator and shouts Lincoln High School spirit with maroon and gold tables. It also holds the new Rail Shop and the teacher's lounge.

The entire student body begins the day by entering the commons and hanging out until the faculty lets everyone pass through and everyone starts another day at Lincoln High School.

A Five Letter Apology Just Won't Do..

That's a poem for you!

A poem by Senior Jacob Norris for Senior September Shoemaker

We were sitting in class, before school had begun.
It was a very gloomy day, with very little sun.
We were in our little corner, no one seemed to flutter,
That was before the words that I did seem to utter.
I was just messin' but Pash' was outta' whack
Angry 'bout tardyness, man what's up with that?
I said two simple words, now I have to write this thing.
I guess I could say I'm sorry, for creating such a scene.
We are pretty goods friends, so I didn't think it would matter but Pash' is making me serve this poem to you on a silver platter.
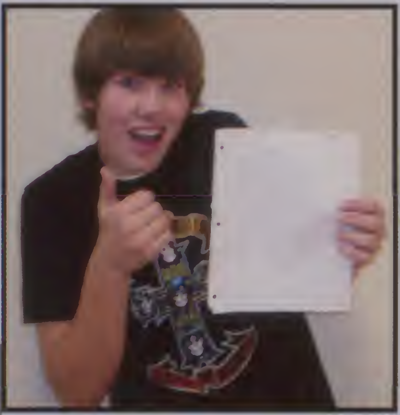
I think I've stalled long enough, to make this poem sound worthy.
It's only been a minute but man it feels like thirty.
I would just like to apologize, for saying what I did.
Next time I think like that, I'll be sure to put on the lid.
I hope you enjoyed this poem,and it makes you feel better.
September is a really cool girl, and boy, I'm glad i met her.

A poem by Senior Nick Poortinga

Taking out my phone to text everyday
I knew one day I'd get caught, it's the price I paid
Pushing on buttons text after text
You better be careful you might be next
Right when it went off I knew I was in trouble
I can't do it again cause next time it will be double
One thing I've learned is to not whip out your cell
you will get caught only time will tell.



A poem by Junior Addison Huffman

I'm sorry I had my phone out in class
I hope you don't think i'm a... butt.
This is a phase I think I'm past
Till tomorrow when I might relapse.

A poem by Senior Callie Moore

I had my cell phone out in class
I'll put it away if I want to pass.
I'm really sorry, period four
but I can't help it, sometimes I get bored.
I'll keep my phone put away
So in Mrs. Pashler's class I'll get an A!

A poem by Senior Nate Furlong

True friendship is a gift
So precious and so rare
Sometimes I take it for granted
And that makes me feel despair

My fault is being human
Sometimes I make mistakes
When I said those words
I was filled with hate

I'd like to say I'm sorry
From the bottom of my heart.
I really hope this grievance
Does not tear us apart.

The Lincoln High School Marching Band was asked by the Democratic Party to perform at the Barack Obama Rally on the plaza in downtown Des Moines.

The Lincoln Band was asked not to clap or cheer during the rally unless it was appropriate to avoid the apperance of a conflict. The Marching Band didn't want to give the impression that the entire high school supported Obama. The Des Moines Register did not include the band in their coverage, also for that very reason.

But, it was exciting for the Marching Band to be included in an event that attracted thousands of people from all around Iowa.
